You look like an intelligent fellow! I want to ask you if I'm not correct.

These so-called experts say that there is no identity of interests between the worker and the boss.

I say there is an identity of interests between the landlord and the tenant.

Timmy per debroze off your head.

Tony, fly your kite! You've been fired for loafin' in here, and all our things have been pitched into the street for not paying the rent!
Henry Dubb, Junior, Asks a Leading Question

- No, Junior. I've only got a plugger nickel and a tobacco coupon.
- Pop, have you got a dollar to spend?
- How many dollars has Vincent Astor got to spend?
- 79,000,000 of 'em to spend as he wants to. He inherited his wad, but where the idea in your head?
- I heard a man say that any body had brat instead of brains who didn't believe that no man should be allowed to spend a dollar he didn't get or get a dollar he didn't earn. Is your brains battered, Pop?
- You pore little fish! I'm a Henry Dubb, if I don't know some of that socialist stuff out of your head!
